Oates And Hesse Matched For 100 Yds.

One of the most interesting events in sporting circles which has been pulled off in town for some time will take place here next Saturday afternoon in the shape of a hundred yard dash between Connelley Oates and Hesse, for a purse of $200.00 a side.

As both contestants are employees of the Dominion Glass plant, and as each has his share of backers, great interest is being taken in the event by the members of the staff.

The race is to be a handicap. Hesse is to get one yard start for every year he is older than Oates. As there is a score and one years difference between the two, Oates will have to start 100 yards in advance of Hesse.

Both the contestants are old timers at the springing game. In his junior the 100 yards in less than 10 seconds, while Oates went down the line on the Pookysaba track in South Africa in 1911. He doesn't remember just how much of that time it took him to do it.

Both men are training faithfully for the event and we understand Connelley Oates is having the two grand boys over the course to put it in the best of shape for the occasion.

The race takes place at the west of the Glass plant and will be run with cut wind shields. There will be no admission for but fifty allowed. All side bets goes to some patriotic fund.

How to Send Letters To Canadian Prisoners

Owing to difficulties experienced in sending letters and packages to Canadian prisoners of war in Germany the post office department has revised instructions regarding the dispatching of mail to Germany.

Postage need not be paid on either letters or parcels. Regarding rates as to letters the department reiterates that letters must be left open, and should not exceed in length two sides of a sheet of note paper, and on no account must the writing be crossed.

Post cards are preferable to letters, and if the former are sent they must not contain views of warships, camps, docks, bridges views, and any conspicuous landmarks. Communications should be confined to family news, and no reference to the naval, military or political conditions.

Parcels must not contain letters, but outside of that there is no restriction as to contents of parcels as long as they are intended for the use of the addressee. No parcel should exceed 11 pounds. Strong cardboard boxes, tin boxes, stoneware jars and several folds of strong packing papers are recommended as coverings.

The address should be: Rank, initials, name; regiment or other unit; British, Canadian, French or Belgian, etc.; prisoner of war; place of internment; Germany.

Money may be sent on information from the post office officials.

Shortage of Female Labor at Pacific

Female labor in the Okanagan valley to aid in the fruit industry is at a premium, according to a statement made by J. W. Brodie, in Vancouver, general passenger agent on Pacific lines for the C. P. R. Conditions in the British Columbia fruit valley, he said, were generally very satisfactory, but a shortage of female labor is felt in the evaporating plants and in the tomato canning industries. Wages for this class of labor, he said, average $2.50 a day. A new industry has developed in this district, Olives are dried, peeled, chopped into small salt pieces and then sent to Ontario, where they are mixed with other salt vegetables and made into soup. There are about 75 people on the payroll of the drying plants at present, and the industry is expanding.

Baptists Contemplate Building New Church

At the Baptist church service last Sunday morning Rev. E. T. White, who has been conducting the service, drew for the first few weeks, accepted the call without a moment's hesitation by the members of the congregation.

Mr. White was sent here by the Alberta Home Mission Board who extend financial aid to the congregation, and almost immediately became quite popular with the members of his flock.

The congregation is in a flourishing condition at present and already arrangements are under way for the building of a church on the congregation's property on Park street.

It is expected that arrangements can be made to start building operations next spring.

We welcome Mr. White to our midst and trust he may long be spared to labor amongst us.

Will Help Farmers To Secure Cattle

The Dominion livestock branch will pay reasonable travelling expenses of a farmer, or the authorized agent of a number of farmers, for the purpose of Canada designed to purchase one or more carloads of breeding cattle in any part of the country.

A systematic effort in Western Canada to conserve cattle suitable for breeding and feeding purposes has been made by providing special facilities for parties wishing to take advantage of this assistance at any of the western stockyards.

The expenses of farmers buying cattle under these conditions at the stockyards will be paid in accordance with the general terms of the policy as stated above, and in addition this service of representatives of the branch will be available in an advisory capacity if so desired. The actual purchasing must, however, be done by the buyer himself or through his authorized agent. Under no circumstances will any responsibility in this connection be assumed by any office of this branch.

It must be distinctly understood that no assistance under this policy can be rendered when stock is purchased for speculative purposes. The banks are co-operating promptly with the department. The members of the markets branch who will set in an advisory capacity in that respect. If they desire it, E. Ward Jones, Alberta stockyards, Calgary, and Duncan Anderson, Palliser hotel, Calgary, for Alberta and Saskatchewan, and Mr. H. Street will act as representative in Manitoba. These are already on their respective fields.

Australia And Canada Doing Good Work

Voluntary enlistment in Australia produced up to Sept. 29 of this year 319,000 men, which works out at one in fifteen in the population. It must be admitted that the showing far surpasses that of Canada, which, with an additional population of at least three million, had raised, to the same date, by voluntary enlistment, some 270,000 men. The conditions are, of course, not parallel. The population of Australia is almost wholly British, while in Canada 46 per cent of the population is of non-British descent. These non-British elements have supplied many splendid soldiers, but their total contribution, in comparison with the British Canadian, has been slight. Probably, with respect to ratio of enlistment, there would not be much to choose between the Australians and the Canadians of British descent.

Advise Sailing to Canadian Ports

The use of Canadian ports as terminals of steamships in transatlantic trade to avoid difficulties arising from submarine risks such as of Sunday, Oct. 8th, was urged in a resolution adopted by the executive council of the board of trade at St. John's, N. B. It was ordered sent to the government at Ottawa.

DEAL PUT THROUGH FOR PURCHASE OF MOTOR TRUCK PLANT

Is Taken Over by Present Owners of Rolling Mills Here--New Company Will Make Alterations And Start Manufacturing Farm Implements--Same Company Also Secures The Gas Franchise Here.

It is now beginning to look as though we are on the threshold of the long looked for revival of industrial activities in Redcliff. For some time has been known that negotiations were under way for the taking over of the Motor Truck plant here, by the company which is already interested in other industries in town, but now it is officially announced that the deal is being consummated.

Although development in all lines has been considerably retarded since the outbreak of war, and although displays and setbacks have been most discouraging at times, yet there are at least three men in town who are unceasingly and untiringly stuck to their guns in an endeavor to get things predicting a revival of industrial development here in the near future.

These men are Mayor B. J. Bott, E. R. Stoner and W. T. Lockwood. And it is due to their efforts that we are able to make these announcements this week, and sound a note of encouragement for the future.

Just what the initial step will be is not as yet definitely settled but we are assured that eventually this plant will be manufacturing a full line of farm implements. As there is a growing demand for this line of goods in the west, there is little doubt that its success will be assured from the start.

During the past week these same men have taken over the control of the gas franchise which has been owned and operated by Messrs. Stoner, Lockwood & Wheeler ever since the town started. In future this will be known as the Canadian Western Power & Fuel Company.

The men behind these two deals are the same men who took over the Rolling Mills here a few months ago and have been operating them successfully ever since. So that we feel safe in predicting a revival of industrial development here in the near future.

Three of Redcliff's leading citizens who have never lost faith in the town, and whose untiring efforts have been in a measure rewarded by recent developments which presage the commencement of further activities.

Red Cross Asks For Special Donations

The members of the Red Cross in this town are now in a position to make a donation in the form of a box of necessities to the Red Cross. The Red Cross is now in a position to make a donation in the form of a box of necessities to the Red Cross. The Red Cross is now in a position to make a donation in the form of a box of necessities to the Red Cross.

Former Redcliff Boy Is Severely Wounded

His many friends here will be sorry to hear of the severe wounding of Private W. A. Woodward, who used to take a leading part in religious activities of this town. His father, writing to his former pastor, says that W. A. is lying in a hospital in England suffering from severe wounds in the head received at the battle of the Somme on September 16th. He was wounded by shrapnel in less than an hour after the battle began, and lay on the battlefield till next morning, over 24 hours, before being brought to the base. His head is injured, and his left side is paralyzed. As to his recovery the physician said that if nature refused to perform the work, an operation would have to be made.

Canada to Supply Fish For Soldiers

The allied armies as well as an admirable proportion of the civilian population of Great Britain are now looking to Canada for steady supply of fish to make up for meat scarcity and to offset high prices for meat. The minister of militia, in a recent from England a request to supply through an order for 1,500,000 pounds of fresh frozen fish for the British soldiers. Canadian soldiers in England have been receiving a weekly ration of Canadian fish for some months past. Arrangements have been made to supply the Canadians in the trenches with a fish ration, and specially favoured fish are being sent forward.

The British authorities have been impressed with the cheapness and the availability of a fish ration and want a similar supply for the British troops. There is also a gradually increasing demand from civilians for Canadian fish, Italy and France are also beginning to look to the Canadian supply.

Sir Sam Hughes said that exports of Canadian fish in the allied countries would soon total 1,000,000 tons.

Hon. Walter Scott has resigned the proprietorship of Saskatchewan. The premier's action in relinquishing the office he has held for 11 years was rendered necessary by the state of his health.

Prizes Awarded For School Gardening

The first year of the school garden, though largely of the nature of an experiment, was successful in many ways. The pupils learned something as well as practice in the actual work of planting, caring for and gathering the vegetables. An abundance of flowers, too, added to the beauty and attractiveness of the work.

The pupils were divided into four groups and prizes were given in each group as follows:

- GROUP I.
Evelyn Hollinger
Hilda Bedford.
- GROUP II.
Etha Frickleton
Lois Con.
Odel Gibson.
Elsie News.
- GROUP III.
Margaret Hasden.
Hilda Schlimm.
Ernest Wilkie.

Red Cross Makes Another Shipment

The local Red Cross branch is still doing good work here may be seen from the list of articles which they have just forwarded to the head office this week. The shipment was made up as follows:

Two bed quilts, 10 dozen T bandages, 10 dozen bandages, four dozen towels, four dozen handkerchiefs, 49 pairs pyjamas, 25 surgical shirts, and five day shirts.

Suggest Raising Hail Insurance Rate

As a result of the tremendous losses caused by hail through Saskatchewan this year, the Municipal Hail Insurance committee alone losing over $300,000, J. E. Paynter, chairman of the committee, advocates an all-round increase in rates, stating that such action is imperative if the past reputation of the commission is to be maintained. He is of the opinion that a four cent flat rate at present should be maintained on all lands under the insurance and that the rate should carry 65 per cent on land up to 80 acres only on a quarter section and that a graduating scale of one cent more should be added on the whole quarter section for each additional 20 acres or portion thereof over differentiation. This would mean a flat rate of eight cents per acre where a full quarter section was under cultivation.

U. S. Gold Supply Is Mounting Up

Whatever the position of New York may be in the financial world at the close of the war, it would appear that the United States will have gold in its treasury in larger volume than was ever known before in the history of the world.

Very few references are made in the press to these movements of precious metal, the rate now being that even the daily foreign movements of gold to and from the Bank of England are not to be abandoned.

How greatly the stores of the United States have been increased, and how the gold of the nations of that country have become is indicated in a statement by the Financial American of recent date to the effect that the stock of gold in that country is now within a comparatively few millions of the total supply of England, France, Germany and Russia combined.

Tradesmen Wanted For Work Overseas

The Canadian Army Service Corps is now enlisting men of the following trades for overseas: Motor drivers, teamsters, lathers, butchers, fitters, saddlers and wheelers.

The medical examination is not as strict as for other branches of the service. Halfway fare will be refunded (if accepted) on production of receipt from the local ticket agent. Intending recruits may apply personally or by letter to the recruitment officer, C. A. S. C. (Overseas) 510 First street, Calgary.

THE POTATO CROP.

It is not only in the wheat crop, that Southern Alberta is extremely fortunate this year. There is also every indication of an excellent crop of potatoes.

In view of the fact that reports from other provinces and many states over the line, indicate almost a total failure in the potato crop, farmers in this portion of Alberta should pay special attention to the harvesting of their potatoes this year.

Last year there were acres of potatoes in this district never taken out of the ground. Added to this there were hundreds of bushels spoiled because they were not properly stored away for the winter. As a result hundreds of dollars' easy money were lost to the farmers.

This fall and winter the demand for potatoes will be greater than last year and there is no doubt the market price will be considerably higher. This being the case farmers who have any quantity of potatoes in should put forth a special effort to get them safely stored in and properly - guarded. Apart from the monetary side of it this should be done as there is no doubt their brother farmers in other parts of Canada will be sorely in need of seed for next spring.

We know this is a busy time for farmers and labor is scarce, but surely some scheme can be devised whereby proper attention can be given to this important matter.

This would be a good opportunity for school boys from town to earn a little on the side on Saturdays.

WOMAN'S FRANCHISE.

Some time ago in these columns the Review forecasted the possibility of complications in woman's suffrage when it came to Dominion elections. At that time we pointed out that since western provinces had extended the franchise to women in provincial affairs, and since provincial voters lists were adopted by the Dominions for federal elections the question of women being allowed to vote in Dominion elections and not in others would cause dissatisfaction in the provinces where the women were not on the voters lists.

Such is turning out to be the case but not exactly in the way we anticipated. We figured the complaint would come from the eastern provinces and not from Alberta and Saskatchewan, where women were given the vote.

Since that time Ontario and British Columbia have extended the franchise to women, and some one has discovered that according to the present Dominion election law the women in these latter two provinces are automatically entitled to vote in federal elections while the women of Alberta and Saskatchewan are not.

It seems that at the time of the confederation of the provinces eligible electors were described as "British subjects of the full age of 21, etc." At that time there was no talk of women's suffrage.

When Alberta and Saskatchewan were taken into confederation, however, the clause designating the eligible electors with regards to these two provinces is described as "male" British subjects, etc. At that time there was much agitation for women's votes.

Now the fact is in. However, the situation should not cause much alarm. It can be easily remedied. The Dominion government will either have to change its election laws to read "male British subjects" for all the provinces, or else to allow the women in all the provinces to vote in federal elections.

In view of the popularity of the women's movement in all parts of Canada it seems to us that the latter is the only course left open for the government at Ottawa.

A COMPARISON.

The steady increasing of the Canadian casualty lists as announced from day to day, shows too plainly Canada's growing participation in the war.

It was estimated at the beginning of this week that our casualty list had then reached a total of 52,000. This is figured out at one in seven of all who have enlisted, although thousands of them have not yet seen the trenches.

Our losses, dreadful as they are in themselves, are, in relation to the whole population, light in comparison with what other belligerent nations have suffered.

When one looks around and notes the havoc that is being made in Canada by the losses sustained by our troops, some idea can be gained of what our war must mean to the belligerent nations of Europe. There is probably not a family of normal size in any of them which has not lost some of its members in this terrible conflict.

PAINTING IMPLEMENTS.

The painting of farm implements for their protection and preservation has apparently received very little consideration by Canadian farmers, if one may judge by the information secured by the Commission of Conservation in the survey conducted on 100 farms in each of four counties in Ontario.

In commenting on the result of their investigation along this line the Commission says:

"The initial cost of farm implements means to the farmers a large outlay. This investment should be protected. Depreciation from rot and rust is rapid, when these conditions are established. For the actual money saving as well as for the more prosperous appearance it gives to the farm and farmer, the regular overhauling and painting of the farm implements should be a recognized part of the year's work."

ADVISES FERTILIZERS.

In emphasizing the advisability of using fertilizers on farms in Canada as a means of increasing the yield, the Conservation Commission of Canada makes a comparison of the yield in Canada with other countries whose commercial fertilizers are used. In this respect the commission points out that Germany, which goes extensively into the use of fertilizers has an average yield of 35 bushels of wheat per acre while Canada's average yield is only 21.04 bushels.

The commission says that this practice of systematic fertilizing has been an important factor in maintaining the food supply in Germany during the war and that if Canadian farmers used fertilizers more extensively the production would be increased immensely, without placing an additional acre under cultivation or employing extra help.

In banking up houses for the winter, do not use leaves, straw or other inflammable material, unless entirely covered with earth; a chimney spark, a carelessly thrown match or a cigarette or cigar stub may ignite it.

INCONSIDERATE.

Henry Ford, the great "Peace at Any Price" advocate, is suing an American paper for one million dollars for libel. Henry has evidently abandoned the "peace" plank in his platform, but he is still heavy on the "price" end of it. If Henry Ford were a nation and that American newspaper were another nation Henry's bellicose blustering would make that Ford peace party feel like a fritter on a free lunch counter. Of course Henry may be working on the principal that this "peace" business is like many other transitory fads, and that it all depends on whose ox is being gored whether one should be too proud to fight or not.

Some times the churches talk about the graft and corruption in politics but if that Red Deer parson is correct when he says those in his church who are in favor of church union, are liars and thieves, it would remind one of that old story about the pot and the kettle.

For the benefit of those boys who think they are doing something smart by scattering cash or snuff around in a crowd is gathered, we would remind them that we know of a case which almost ended fatally as a result of this apparently innocent prank. It happened that an asthmatic person was in the crowd and got the full charge, bringing on a severe attack of asthma from which it took him weeks to recover.

An eastern paper objects to giving women votes in Dominion affairs and in defence of its stand says: "When women enter the army it will be time to cloth them with the power to regulate the nation's external affairs." This surely is a very weak argument and shows that the one who penned it doesn't know why he is alive. If he did he would know that "the greatest battles that ever were fought, were fought by the mothers of men."

The Dominion government was real mean to appoint R. B. Bennett director of national service. Surely they must have known that the Calgary papers have not nearly exhausted their list of possible jobs for R. B. yet. And now all this prepared copy will have to be thrown in the waste basket. It is hoped this appointment will not prevent the ladies of Calgary from carrying out their original intention of conferring on R. B. the rank of Grand Critic of the Order of White Kids.

RHEUMATICS COMING HOME.

Arrangements are being made by the military hospitals commission to treat in hospitals in Canada from 1,000 to 1,500 Canadian soldiers now under treatment in England for rheumatic troubles. They will be brought to Canada as soon as the necessary accommodation and hospital

Fort, French and British airplanes dropped four tons of explosives on the Mauser works at Oberdorf, in Germany, on the Moselle river, the war office announced a few days ago. Six German machines defending the works were shot down.

A COSTLY OMISSION.

Once upon a time a man who was too economical to take the home paper sent his little son to borrow a copy from his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a four-dollar stamp of wax and in ten minutes looked like a waxy summer squash. His father, hearing his cry, ran to his assistance and failing to see a hair wire fence ran into it breaking it down, setting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a five-dollar pair of trousers. The old cow taking advantage of the gap in the fence, ran

Mrs. Liseemert, of Carstairs, who has had three years' experience in Alberta schools, has been engaged to take Miss Stephenson's place on the school staff here, the latter having resigned. Miss Liseemert will assume her new duties on Nov. 15th.

Charles Symons, formerly of the Royal Bank staff here, but who is now in Khaki, writes his mother stating he is now sufficiently recovered from his wounds to be around again. At the time of writing he expected to report for duty again in a few days.

Word has been received by friends here that Harry G. Sheasby, who left here for the front with the 11st battalion, was wounded last week. Sheasby is a well known Redcliff boy and his many friends here will anxiously look for word of his recovery.

In the casualty list of last Monday appeared the name of Charles T. Chapman, of the Bowell district among the wounded. Chapman left Canada with one of the first battalions to go to the front. He has three brothers at present in Khaki. Their mother lives north of Bowell.

At the Empress theatre last week some boys who evidently thought they were doing something clever, blew some stuff out among the crowd much to the annoyance of all present. The guilty parties are known to the management and a close watch will be kept on them in future.

Rev. W. Shearer, superintendent of home missions in this province, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church last Sunday, morning and evening. At the evening service he gave an illustrated address, which proved most interesting. The views thrown on the canvas gave a good idea of the work being done in the home mission fields and impressed the congregation with the great need of help in this work. The church was well filled for this service.

We notice by our exchanges that a number of schools throughout the country are adopting prisoners of war in Germany. It takes $2.50 a month to adopt one prisoner and this amount keeps him provided with a weekly parcel of dainties. It all depends on the size of the school how many prisoners are adopted. In some schools each room adopts one prisoner. It would be a good idea if all the schools in this province would get interested in this work. Five cents a month from each pupil would adopt quite a number of Canadian prisoners.

The St. Andrew W. A. intend holding their annual sale of work, on Nov. 30th. Keep the date in mind.

Watch for the Red Cross boxes in the stores on Saturday and deposit your loose change in them.

The wheat crop of Canada for the present year will be only 199,000,000 bushels, as compared with 370,000,000 bushels in 1915, according to an official estimate issued at Ottawa.

A harvest social will be held next Monday, Oct. 23rd, in St. Andrew Parish hall at 8 sharp. Wish drive with good prizes; refreshments. Admission 25 cents. All come and have a good time. Tell your friends.

Miss R. Watson, of the post office staff, was taken suddenly ill last Friday evening. It was found she was suffering from an acute attack of appendicitis, and she was taken to the Medicine Hat hospital at once. An operation was successfully performed and she is now progressing favorably.

In their latest reply to American protests against the interference with neutral mail the allied governments reiterated their right to intercept and search all genuine mail found on neutral vessels on the high seas or in allied ports, but they promise to remedy "any faults, abuses or serious mistakes" in conformity that may be brought to their attention.

SOLDIER'S SCHEDULE

The daily routine of a soldier's life told in a few well known hymn lines: Revell, "Christians, awake!"

Breakfast: "Meady wait and murmur not."

C. O., orderly room: "When he cometh."

Manoeuvre: "We plough the fields and scatter."

Swedish drill: "Here we suffer grief and pain."

Dinner: "Come ye thankful people, come."

On sentry: "While shepherds watch."

Returning from pass: "The day thou gavest me is ended."

Australians to Vote on

Compulsory Service

For the first time in its history the voice of the electors of Australia, outside its shores, will shortly be recorded. Under the military service referendum act, 1916, the government of the commonwealth is empowered to obtain by means of the ballot the opinion of sailors and soldiers of the Australian imperial force, who are entitled to vote on the referendum in regard to compulsory service.
